

MARQUARDT FOUNDATION, INC.

Help us gird for the future in service to senior citizens...
Include the Foundation in your benevolent giving now and in the future.

HOW YOU CAN CONTRIBUTE IN SUPPORT OF THE MARQUARDT FOUNDATION

- A direct charitable gift which is tax deductible
- A "Living Donation" which will serve noble causes of the future
- A bequest in your will

For more information on how you can contribute or include the Foundation in your Will write: MARQUARDT FOUNDATION, 1020 HILL STREET, WATERTOWN, WI. 53094-3099

MARQUARDT MEMORIAL MANOR, INC.

1020 Hill Street
Watertown, WI 53094-3099

ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED
RETURN POSTAGE GUARANTEED

Bulk Rate
U.S. Postage
PAID
Non-Profit Org.
Watertown, WI
Permit No. 19

D

Mr. & Mrs. Earl Maas
119 Comenius Court
Watertown, WI 53094

Printed on recycled paper.

MARQUARDT VILLAGE VIEWS

Volume 2, Number 4

Summer, 1991

Boyd A. Flater, Executive Director

Charles J. Wallman, Editor

THREE MAJOR EXPANSIONS IN PROGRESS STURGEON BAY PROJECT ROLLING TOO

Leaving the building site of the new Karl Fischer Activity Center, hard hats in hand, are Marquardt's sales coordinator, Milo Loppnow, and executive director, Boyd Flater. The center has been named to honor the late Karl Fischer, long-time friend and benefactor of Marquardt.

161-8560

Marquardt Village's new Karl Fischer Activity Center is rapidly being built. Roof trusses were being placed when the above picture was taken. Inspecting the progress being made (below) are Marquardt executives Boyd Flater and Milo Loppnow.

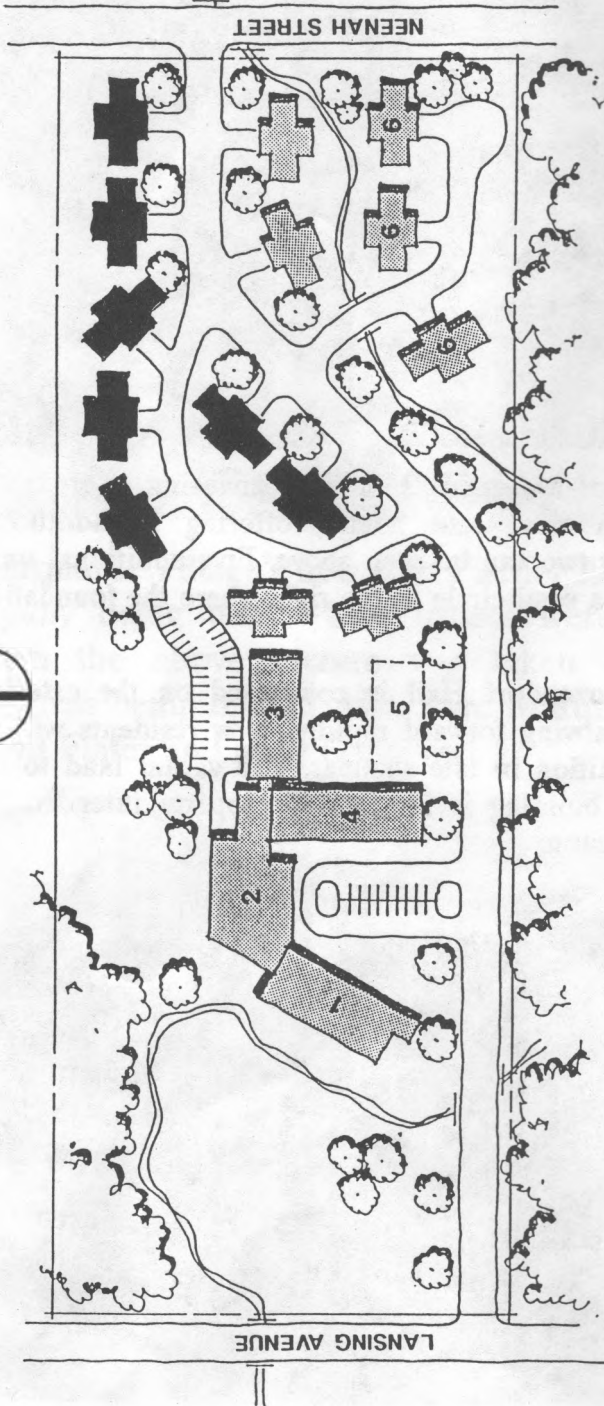

A major element of Marquardt's current expansion effort is the building of seven new Ochs homes, offering 14 additional duplexes. The first two can be seen above. Five additional units will be erected in a semi-circle to the right where the foundation slabs can be seen.

The expanded Zinzendorf Hall is completed on the exterior. Interior work is moving forward rapidly. New residents will be housed in the addition in late summer. The vacant land to the right rear of the building is Marquardt property intended for even further expansion.

MORAVIAN HOMES OF STURGEON BAY, INC. STURGEON BAY, WISCONSIN

STURGEON BAY UPDATE

The last issue of Village Views (Spring 1991) reported that a new Marquardt Village-type complex was being created in Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin. It's 40 miles northeast of Green Bay at the bottom of the popular Door County vacation area.

Shown at the left is the layout of the new, still-to-be-named village.

Here's what will be found in the new village:

- There will be 30 condominiums in the facility (reference #1), each with either one or two bedrooms.
- A roomy activities and dining building (#2) will be part of the layout.
- Thirty one-bedroom apartments are to be built (#3).
- A 24-room facility (#4)--each a single room apartment--will be created for persons who can no longer live alone.
- There is space allocated (#5) to erect an additional building of the latter type when circumstances dictate.
- While the master plan calls for 14 attractive duplexes (#6), only seven will be built initially. They are marked in black in the accompanying drawing.

LOUIS W. NOWACK, M.D. MARQUARDT'S CARING MEDICAL DIRECTOR

While all residents of Marquardt Village are required to have their own personal physicians, Marquardt Manor has its own medical director. He's an outstanding retired Watertown physician, Louis W. Nowack, M.D.

Dr. Nowack's first "official" connection with Marquardt came as a member of its board of directors, from 1975 to 1980. His informal ties as a physician at Marquardt go back about 20 years. And he became its medical director soon after his retirement in 1976.

Louie -- people rarely call him "doctor" -- is a Watertown native. He graduated from Watertown High School in 1930 and was valedictorian of his class. Then he went on to receive a bachelor of science degree from Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, in 1935. He continued his education at that school where he received his medical degree in 1939 following an internship at the University of Wisconsin Hospital, Madison.

After graduation, he began practise in Watertown with his father, Dr. Louis H. Nowack. World War II had begun in Europe and Louie applied for a reserve commission. He was made a captain in the 127th Infantry, 32nd (Red Arrow) Division. It wasn't long after that his unit was called to active duty. The regiment was first sent to Camp Beauregard, Louisiana. From there he was moved to Randolph Field in Texas for further military training. Within a short time he was detailed to the Army's Medical Field Service School, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. He graduated from it on December 7, 1941, the very day that Pearl Harbor was attacked, throwing the United States directly into the war.

Applications for the Army Air Corps were being taken during this time and Louie applied for transfer to it. He was accepted and in late 1942 shipped out to England as a flight surgeon. The long flight included stops at Gander, Newfoundland, and Polebrook, Scotland. A companion on the trip was one of Hollywood's most famous personalities, movie star Clark Gable, now also in the Air Corps.

Upon arriving in England, Louie was named the first flight surgeon of the 351st Bomb Group which later became part of the renowned Eighth Air Force. He was stationed at High Wycombe.

As his B-17 unit accelerated its daytime bombing raids on Germany, it became apparent to Louie that many casualties aboard returning aircraft had to be treated in the planes themselves as soon as they touched down. Especially difficult to reach were tail and ball-turret gunners, whose turrets were often damaged with wounded in them. With others, he came up with a solution, a traveling mini-emergency room which went directly to the wounded when needed. The vehicles best suited to this task were British lorries which were converted to hold four wounded men on litters, plus the doctor and one or two corpsmen. These were the forerunners of today's high - tech emergency ambulances.

As he treated the men of his outfit, Louie noted that a number of aircrew personnel were experiencing extreme stress or anxiety when on their bombing missions. To help reassure some of these crewmen, he went on raids with them, even though he was not required to do so. He voluntarily made five such trips over Germany. Many older Watertownians remember the flight jacket he had worn on those missions. After the war, he often wore it when making emergency house calls at night.

While in England, the officers of his group were quartered in small three or four room huts at their base. Louie and Clark Gable lived in adjoining rooms in one of these huts for some time.

He was ultimately returned to the U. S. During his tour in Europe he had earned the Bronze Star, Air Medal, Soldier's Medal, Presidential Unit Citation, as well as the usual array of campaign ribbons. He was discharged as a lieutenant colonel in 1945.

Following his military service Louie returned to Watertown and resumed working with his father. His dad retired shortly thereafter, however, and Louie continued to practise alone. He did so from 1945 until his retirement in 1976, with the exception of a two-year stint (1958-1960) at Bowling Green University in Ohio as resident physician. In Watertown he was a family practitioner although he was heavily committed to obstetrics and gynecology. He also performed surgery extensively.

Louie is not one to sit back and watch the world go by. He served many years as a director of the Merchant's National Bank, now Bank One. For years he was the city health commissioner.

His countless unselfish acts of helping people in the community are well known. He's given financial aid to dozens of students who needed that kind of help, including the granting of scholarships. When some local nursing students lacked textbooks because they didn't have money to buy them, he plunked down $500 to pay for them. And when certain families were in dire need, he bought groceries for them, and children's clothing, and more.

Louie even has time for reading which he enjoys immensely. But he's had to cut that back somewhat in the last few years because of eye problems. He's also a boating lover who doesn't get on the water now as much as in earlier years.

Louie has received wide recognition for his many contributions to the community. This year he received a Distinguished Service citation from Madison Area Technical College, in large measure because of his on-going assistance in the nursing programs of the MATC-Watertown campus. Many of these nursing students are employed at Marquardt where he can work directly with them. He has twice been the grand marshal of local parades, and has had the Main Street bridge named for him for a year in 1984.

Louie is far more than a fine physician and good citizen. He's been married for many years to his wife, Esther. They have three children. Robert is an associate professor of physics at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana. Judy works as assistant to the vice president of academic affairs at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Mary Helen is in private practise as a psychologist at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Marquardt is proud to have such an outstanding member of its staff as Louie -- Dr. Louis W. Nowack.

TOP-OF-THE-LINE MEDICAL CARE A PRIORITY AT MARQUARDT

It takes only a few minutes of conversation with Bonnie Zabel to realize how button-popping proud she is of her work. Bonnie is an R.N., director of nursing at Marquardt Manor. She's got lots to be proud of.

The current "population" of Marquardt is 140 residents. Each has his or her own attending physician, a requirement for admission. That care is supplemented by Louis W. Nowack, M.D., Marquardt's medical director who visits the Manor daily, usually two or three times. More about Dr. Nowack in an adjoining story.

But back to Bonnie's pride and joy, the TLC given to all Manor residents. Bonnie has 12 registered nurses (RNs) on her staff, 22 LPNs (licensed practical nurses), 90 nurse assistants or nurse aides (NAs), two ward clerks, a medical secretary, and a medical records clerk. They are the TLC providers who do their jobs so well.

A special word must be said about the NAs. In 1987 legislation was enacted which mandated that NAs must receive a minimum of 90 hours of technical training toward becoming accredited. Then a formal review of each candidate by an independent outside source is required. This review is both written and oral, the latter of which includes a hands-on demonstration to the examiner of the necessary skills required. Marquardt is fortunate to have a major satellite campus of Madison Area Technical College (MATC) in Watertown. It is able to provide both the training and the independent review dictated by law.

Bonnie's staff provides a broad range of health support services. Four kinds of therapy can be given to residents: physical, occupational, music, and speech. When medical necessity requires, portable X-ray equipment can be promptly brought into Marquardt. The X-rays can even be made in a resident's room when needed. Intravenous therapy can be administered for a variety of needs. And oxygen, a necessity for some residents, can be furnished at any time, including units which can be moved about by the resident himself. Watertown Memorial Hospital is also available to serve residents if need be; it's only a couple of minutes away from Marquardt. During the first five-and-one-half months of 1991, the hospital performed 857 lab tests on behalf of Marquardt residents. Samples to be tested were drawn by Marquardt nurses, then taken to the hospital by Marquardt personnel and test results came back without delay. During the same time period just mentioned, 268 "transports" of residents to attending doctor's offices or the hospital were furnished.

Marquardt has an added feature, unique to an operation of its size. That's a full-time pharmacist who is on duty eight hours a day, five days a week. This pharmacist is also "on call" at any off-hour, day or night. To everyone involved, this is a special PLUS.

It's easy to see how the infectious enthusiasm of Bonnie Zabel about health care at Marquardt comes to be. And it's there throughout the entire staff. Marquardt believes in top-of-the-line medical care, and delivers it.

PROFILES IN SERVICE (CONTINUED)

With this issue of Village Views, we continue to profile individuals who serve Marquardt Memorial Manor, Inc. as officers and directors. In their unpaid roles that require both time and commitment, these persons are to be commended for their role in community/church service.

These directors are part of the corporate board of Marquardt:

LOIS HARKE, director - Moravian College for Women, B.S. in Medical Technology. Formerly employed as medical technologist (ASCP) at Bartholomew County Hospital, Columbus, Ind.; St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay, Wis.; State Laboratory of Hygiene Cytogenetics Unit, Madison, Wis.; retired, 1986. Community activities: volunteer, Red Cross Bloodmobile; also volunteer, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, American Cancer Society, Leukemia Society of America; member, various homemaker and women's clubs. Church-related positions: pastor's wife, doing whatever had to be done, including Sunday School teacher, choir director, etc. Resides in Madison, Wis.

PHOTO
NOT AVAILABLE

RAYMOND HANSON, director - Formerly served as Director of Buildings and Grounds, Wisconsin Rapids Public School system; now retired. Previously industrial construction supervisor. Community activities: various management groups; state and national professional organizations. Church-related positions: Joint Boards; Christian Education Commission; Mount Morris Development Administration Retreat Center; various camps; district and provincial synod delegate. Resides in Wisconsin Rapids (Saratoga), Wis.

MARTIN JOHNSON, director - Attended University of Wisconsin, received both Chemical and Mining Engineering degrees. Previously Vice President - Technology with Rayovac Corporation; now retired after 40 years. Community activities: board of directors, United Way, Chamber of Commerce, other civic boards; chairman, several international technical committees; board chairman, Hi Tech Eastern Company. Church-related positions: various boards of elders and trustees; Western District Executive Board, Interprovincial Music Committee.

Shown at the right is volunteer Bill Schimpf helping Lois Ellington return to her room from a meal.

VOLUNTEERS...

The volunteers who assist the full-time staff at Marquardt Manor are truly unsung heroes. They give unselfishly of themselves to provide a variety of services for residents seven days a week. There are almost 200 volunteers currently helping at Marquardt. The accompanying photos illustrate two recent situations where volunteers were helping out. Their work will be a feature of the next issue of Village Views.

Volunteer Janet Hennings and Meta Schoenike join together to harmonize at a recent sing-along.

THANKS

The Marquardt Foundation has had another rewarding year, helping the Foundation to a solid footing. We appreciate the support which will help us in providing services and care to older persons.

Marquardt Foundation acknowledges the following individuals whose gifts have been received.

INDIVIDUALS

Mrs. Barbara Abel
 Andrew J. Ahrens
 Arnold Altenburg
 Miss Ella Appenfeldt
 Mr. & Mrs. Douglas Bade
 Herman C. Baumann
 Mr. & Mrs. Bertram Beltz
 Vera Bohnsack
 Mrs. Sharon Braun
 Myrna Brindley
 Mrs. Sandi Clark
 Mr. & Mrs. Rene Claudon
 Mr. & Mrs. Edward Dobbratz
 Mr. & Mrs. Jerold Dommer
 Mr. & Mrs. Elmer Edstrand
 Phyllis Ann Epperson
 Mrs. Karl Fischer
 Dagny Flynn
 Sharon Gilliland, M.D.
 Rev. & Mrs. Eugene Glasser
 Evangeline Graf
 Mr. & Mrs. Homer Graper
 Dr. & Mrs. F. C. Gremmels
 Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Grosser
 Mr. & Mrs. Thomas Hady
 Mr. & Mrs. Raymond Hanson
 Mrs. Morgan Helgestad
 Dr. & Mrs. Richard Holden
 Royal Howe
 Paul Huber
 Dennis Johnson
 E. James Kastrosky
 William Kiessling, Jr.
 Mrs. Erna Kinkel
 Jeanne Klein, TOPS Group #1151

INDIVIDUALS

Mr. & Mrs. Milton E. Knapp
 Mrs. Arnold Krause
 Jacquelyn Kube
 Lois F. Latsch
 Marjorie Lauersdorf
 Ruth Lemke
 Walter Lenz
 Patricia Little
 Bruce & Christine Loppnow
 Rev. & Mrs. Milo Loppnow
 Ken Luther
 Mr. & Mrs. Al Maas, Jr.
 Mr. & Mrs. Marvin Maasch
 Mr. & Mrs. W. Norton Madigan
 Mr. & Mrs. Robert Margraf
 Mrs. John Marks
 Mr. & Mrs. David Nowack
 Mr. & Mrs. William Potter
 Douglas Rabbach
 Sandra Radant, COTA,
 Beaver Dam Care Center
 Eva Rath
 Mr. & Mrs. William Reuter, Jr.
 Rosanne Richter
 Charlotte Scherer
 Mr. & Mrs. Bill Schimpf
 Mr. & Mrs. Edgar Schmiel
 Mr. & Mrs. Jacob Schneider
 Mrs. Catherine Schultz
 The Rev. Rudolph Schulze
 Mr. & Mrs. Jack Shea
 Mrs. Hazel Stout
 Edna Strasburg
 Milton A. Strauss
 Mrs. Virginia Terhune

THANKS (Cont.)

INDIVIDUALS

Mr. & Mrs. Albert Troyke
Eugenia Uttech
Charles J. Wallman
Mr. & Mrs. C. V. Witterwyler

CHURCHES & CHURCH ORGANIZATIONS

E. Moravian Women's Fellowship,
Green Bay
Immanuel Luth. Church Ladies Aid,
Watertown
Lakeview Women's Fellowship,
Madison
London Moravian Women's Fellow.,
Deerfield
St. Stephen's Ladies Aid, Watertown (Concord)
St. Stephen's Lutheran Church,
Watertown (Concord)
Saratoga Moravian Church,
Wisconsin Rapids
Sister Bay Women's Fellowship
Western Region Women's Fellowship, Watertown
Women's Fellowship,
Wisconsin Rapids

CORPORATIONS

Air Watertown
Allcity Food & Vending
Charles David's & Sons
Evergreen Beach Motel
Hafemeister Furniture Store
Homestead Builders
I. Gagliano
Jefferson County Bank

CORPORATIONS

The Jock Shop
Juice Plus
Kehr Bros., Inc.
Herbert H. Kohl Charities, Inc.
Koplin Excavating & Grading
Maas Bros. Construction
Pieper Power
Pine View Foods
R & R TV Service
Riedeman-Thompson Amvets #35
Rohr Window Cleaning
Steve's Citgo Service
Valley Bank of Watertown
Virchow Krause & Co.
Watertown Budget Print, Inc.
Watertown Daily Times
Watertown Evergreen Nursery
Watertown Nurses Club

GIFTS IN KIND

Rev. & Mrs. Lorenz Adam
William Beckman
Mr. & Mrs. Carson Biorn
Ida Bloomfield
Capt. Dan Brandenstein
Steve Chivers, Cub Scouts
Mrs. Ada Christensen
George & Adelle Day
Esther Engelbrecht
Andrea Fischer
David Gill
Jill Graff
Jackie Heinbigner
Tami Klug
Gladys Koehler
Mrs. Arnold Krause
Walter Landerud
Walter Lenz
Mrs. William Madden
Mrs. David Melcher

THANKS (Cont.)

GIFTS IN KIND

Geraldine Meyers
 Anita Mueller-Rans
 William Rathert, Sr.
 Darlene Richert
 Gwynne Richter
 Jeanne Ringstad
 Richard Rumary
 Dr. Thea Sager
 Amanda Schaller
 Charlotte Scherer
 Rev. & Mrs. Roger Stauffer
 Selma Talledge
 Marian Weber
 Deborah Wheeler
 Jim Williams
 Mrs. Stanley Wolff
 Barbara Woolever
 American Legion Post 189
 Assembly of God Church, Watertown
 Brownie Troop #544
 Calvary Baptist Christian School,
 Watertown
 Christ United Meth. Youth Group,
 Watertown
 Christ United Meth. Sunday School,
 Watertown
 Country Neighbors Homemakers
 The Durrant Group
 E. Moravian Women's Fellowship,
 Green Bay
 Emmet Townliners
 Euterpe Chorus
 Faith Luth. Day Care Center,
 Watertown
 Farmington All-Stars
 First Cong. United Church, Wtn.

GIFTS IN KIND

Good Shepherd Chorus, Watertown
 Immanuel Ev. Luth. Church,
 Watertown
 Immanuel Ladies Aid, Watertown
 Immanuel Luth. Sunday School,
 Watertown
 Knights of Columbus, Watertown
 Ladies of W. Moravian Church,
 Green Bay
 Lake Mills Moravian Church
 Lake Mills Moravian Sunday School
 Manawa Community Nursing
 Center
 Northwestern Staff, Watertown
 Olde Towne Doll Shoppe
 River Valley Alliance Chorus
 Riverside Middle School,
 Watertown
 St. Bernard's Religious Ed. Office,
 Watertown
 St. Bernard's School, Watertown
 St. Bernard's Sunday School,
 Watertown
 St. Paul's Church Choir, Ixonia
 Schurz School Girl Scouts
 Seventh Day Adventist Group,
 Watertown
 Silent Singers
 Snyder Circle Ladies
 Waterloo Grade School
 Waterloo School District
 Watertown Humane Society
 Webster School, Watertown
 Webster School Girl Scouts
 Women's Fellowship, Sturgeon Bay
 Women's Fellowship, Wis. Rapids

Marquardt Village Views is published quarterly by Marquardt Village (Marquardt Memorial Manor, Inc., Mueller Apartments, Hus Apartments, Ochs Homes and Zinzendorf Hall); 1020 Hill Street, Watertown, Wisconsin, 53094-3099.

MARQUARDT VILLAGE MISSION STATEMENT

"The Lord Jesus Christ calls His Church into being so that it may serve Him here on earth until He comes. The Moravian Church is, therefore, aware of its being called in faith to serve mankind by proclaiming the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It recognizes this call to be the source of its being and the inspiration of its service." (from "Ground of Our Unity" -- a statement adopted at a world-wide Synod of the Moravian Church.)

Gerontological studies stimulated by the increase both in numbers and percentages of older persons in the population have helped us understand the needs of the elderly. These studies have made us aware of the need to respond with adequate living arrangements and care for older persons. Therefore, the members of the Moravian Church, Western District, and the Boards of Directors of Moravian Homes, Inc., Marquardt Memorial Manor and Mueller Apartments have chosen as a special ministry the provision of skilled nursing care and well-managed sheltered housing for the elderly with latitude in implementation to be open, on occasions, to serve persons not yet elderly who have exceptional health needs.

In carrying out this ministry, we will provide programs and facilities:

- where persons may live quite independently or receive such nursing care as may be necessary for their joy and comfort, secure in their surroundings and in their future.
- that reach out to those who need special care and support in their later years, though their resources be limited.
- staffed by persons who possess the character and exhibit the attitudes required to promote spiritual well-being.
- in which worship services and activities are available for religious, social and therapeutic needs.
- with an atmosphere in which both residents and staff can promote, and benefit by, the spirit of Christian Community.